By Don Sutherland

On March 26, Lehman College's Office of Institutional Research, Assessment, and Planning (OIRPA) held its final spring 2018 assessment workshop. The workshop was "Supporting the Student Learning Experience." This workshop discussed good assessment practices, including matching instruments to outcomes, the value of multiple lines of evidence, and direct and indirect evidence. Finally, the workshop discussed assessment for student support services within the context of Lehman College's institutional learning outcomes.
