

ANNY Holds Fall 2019 Regional Conference

By Don Sutherland

The Assessment Network of New York (ANNY) held its fall 2019 regional conference at Pace University in New York City on Friday, October 18. Lindsey R. Guinn, Director of Assessment and Institutional Research at Washington & Jefferson College provided the keynote address entitled, “No Pain, No Drama, More Impact: Effective Administrative Assessment.”

Her address discussed the elements of an administrative assessment plan, the development of an administrative unit mission statement (connected to the college/university mission statement), development of administrative unit goals, articulation of administrative unit outcomes, and an assessment plan/cycle template for multi-year assessment.

All slides will be posted on the ANNY website and made available to ANNY’s membership.
