

Assessment Network of New York's 2019 Regional Conference

By Don Sutherland

The Assessment Network of New York (ANNY) will be holding its regional conference on Friday, October 18 at Pace University's New York City campus. The title of the conference is, "No Pain, No Drama, More Impact: Effective Administrative Assessment."

Lindsey Graham Guinn, Director of Assessment and Institutional Research and the Accreditation Liaison Office at Washington & Jefferson College will be the conference's keynote speaker. In her presentation, she will address the fundamentals of administrative assessment, provide a process model for administrative assessment, and share strategies for engaging and educating staff.

Information and the registration link can be found here.