

Another Mild February is Concluding

By Don Sutherland

February 2020 will mark the third such case in the last four years where the monthly temperature ranks among the 10 warmest on record for New York City where records go back to 1869.

Below are a series of photos from the New York Botanical Garden (Bronx, New York) where early-season blooms occurred.

