

New York Botanical Garden's Spotlight on Orchids

By Don Sutherland

Last year, the arrival of COVID-19 cut short the New York Botanical Garden's annual orchid show. This year, in order to maintain safe social distancing through reduced indoor capacity, the New York Botanical Garden is featuring a limited "Spotlight on Orchids" rather than the much larger-scale orchid show.

Four photos follow:

