

Ice Storm Affects the NYC Region

By Don Sutherland

The prior week saw a blizzard bring heavy snow to the region, especially east of New York City. This week saw rain change to freezing rain, as cold air pressed southward on Friday. As a result, branches, fences, and power lines were coated with ice. Some photos:

