Creating Surrealistic Art with Craiyon

By Don Sutherland

Last week, the blog covered the creation of abstract art in Craiyon. The images were produced in version 2 of the application. This weekend, I generated surrealistic images using both Craiyon.

When seeking to generate surrealistic images, one should be sure to use "surrealism" or "extreme surrealism" in the request.

Seven images from Craiyon follow to provide a sketch of what the application can generate:

Peach tree

Wall Street trader

Under the umbrella

Walking scuba diver

Leaping dolphin

Walking on the event horizon of a black hole

Sailing in a world of color
